Rules for red-crowned crane observation & photography

In order to care for the habitat of cranes and to ensure that both local residents and visitors can have a pleasant time

To those traveling by car

Since Tsurui Village is a dairy village, large work vehicles are driving around.

Please be kind to give way to larger vehicles in the village.

Cherish nature that nurtures red-crowned cranes

No unauthorized logging and limbing

Self-centered observation and photography are prohibited

If a crane stands still with its head raised, it is an alert, Do not approach it any further!

No drones

No private feeding

Do not chase cranes

Do not shout or make loud noises

Do not do flash photography

Keep a close eye on the nesting and brood-rearing cranes and leave them alone

Stav away

Do not disclose any information or photo from which the location can be identified

Consideration for local residents

Do not enter private land such as pastures and dent corn fields, as well as residential and farm grounds

There are zones where parking/stopping vehicles is prohibited

Do not observe private houses, or do not take photos including private houses

Produced by the Tsurui Village Council for Promotion of Creating a Village in Harmony with Cranes Secretariat: Tsurui Village Board of Education 0154-64-2050